2017 Singapore Symposium on Metabolic Diseases

Invitation for Participation

16th – 17th November 2017
Breakthrough and Discovery Theatrettes
Level 4, Matrix Building, 30 Biopolis Street

The Singapore Bioimaging Consortium (SBIC) under the Agency for Science, Technology and Research (A*STAR), and Duke-NUS Medical School jointly invite you to the 2017 Singapore Symposium on Metabolic Diseases.

Inaugurated in 2007, the symposium has been a forum to bring together world experts in the broad areas of metabolic diseases to share their latest research findings and insights. The event also serves as a platform for the invited speakers and participants to meet and forge collaborations with local scientists. This year, we have 31 speakers from overseas and 11 speakers from local research organizations. The topics to be discussed at the symposium will span from basic science to clinical research and with a focus on diabetes and its associated complications.

Overseas speakers:
Thomas Südhof (Stanford), Philipp Scherer (UT Southwestern), Tamas Horvath (Yale), Peng Li (Tsinghua), Bao-Liang Song (Wuhan), David Piston (Washington University), Sabrina Diano (Yale), Xiaoyong Yang (Yale), Matthew Hirschey (Duke), Young-Bum Kim (Harvard), Kyong-Soo Park (Seoul National Univ), Jae Bum Kim (Seoul National Univ), In-kyu Lee (Kyungpook National Univ), Min Seon Kim (Asan Medical Center), Ueki Kohjiro (National Center for Global Health and Medicine), Yoshihiro Ogawa (Kyushu Univ), Aimin Xu (Hong Kong Univ), Yu Wang (Hong Kong Univ), Chen-Yu Zhang (Nanjing), Duanqing Pei (Guangzhou Institutes of Biomedicine and Health, CAS), Yan Chen (Institute for Nutritional Sciences, CAS), Sheng-Cai Lin (Xiamen), Yong Liu (Wuhan), Cong-Yi Wang (Tongji Hospital), Chunming Ding (Wenzhou Medical Univ), Maria Gomez (Lund), Mark Cooper (Monash), Gary Sweeney (York), Peter Shepherd (Auckland), Peter Thorn (Sydney), and Miriam Cnop (ULB Center for Diabetes Research).

Local speakers:
Thomas Coffman (Duke-NUS), E-Shyong Tai (NUHS), Su-Chi Lim (KTP Hospital), Roger Foo (GIS), Feng Xu (IMCB), Lei Sun (Duke-NUS), Philip Lee (SBIC), Yu Fu (SBIC), Bernhard Boehm (LKC), Adrian Teo (IMCB), and Yusuf Ali (LKC).

The event will include tea breaks and lunches.

Besides SBIC and Duke-NUS, the symposium is co-organized by the Institute of Molecular and Cell Biology (A*STAR), Lee Kong Chian School of Medicine (NTU), and Singapore Immunology Network (A*STAR).

Attendance at the symposium is limited to 300 participants by registration only.

Registration

Please register via email to 2017SSMD@sbic.a-star.edu.sg with your Full name (family name first), Organization and Email address

Registration fee

SGD400 (before 16th Nov 2017) via PayPal

SGD500 On-site (16th and 17th Nov 2017) via NETS or PayPal
(Fee is inclusive of GST)

Click here to pay

No refund will be allowed once payment is made.