THE 5TH INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE ON CELLULAR AND MOLECULAR BIOENGINEERING

TRANSLATIONAL MEDICINE • ENZYME / PROTEIN ENGINEERING AND NANOTECHNOLOGY • GENOME ENGINEERING

Following the success of last year's conference, our 5th International Conference on Cellular and Molecular Bioengineering (ICCMB5) will bring together scientists/researchers, engineers and scholars from varied academic and industrial backgrounds for a session of open sharing and learning of state-of-the-art knowledge and technologies, and breakthroughs in emerging areas of bioengineering. The conference, through its programme, also seeks to reflect and address new challenges that come with new knowledge in human healthcare today. Prominent plenary speakers from world renowned institutions in the United States, Europe and Asia Pacific will be featured in this conference, thus providing a platform for conference participants to interact and network with leading experts in the biomedical science and bioengineering fields.

This year, the themes of the conference are Enzyme / Protein Engineering and Nanotechnology, Genome Engineering and Translational Medicine. These topics take the main stage in this conference because of their emerging technologies related to human healthcare. We hope that top scientists and researchers from all over the world can contribute their knowledge and share their exciting works in this conference.

The ICCMB5 organizing committee hopes to welcome you to Singapore in 2018, and we certainly look forward to your participation and contributions to this meeting.
